Rial Topper Pershing

COUNTY GOP SELECTS TOPPER — The Westmoreland County Republican Committee Saturday selected Willis Topper, Greensburg attorney, as candidate for a court seat made vacant by the death of Judge George H McWherter. Topper's running mates in the November general election, Robert H Rial and Avra N. Pershing, Jr, Greensburg attorneys, are shown congratulating the former F. B I. agent and county GOP chairman.

Willis Topper GOP Candidate For Judge; Loughran Bid Fails

Westmoreland County Republicans Saturday named Willis E. Topper, Greensburg attorney and former GOP county chairman, as their candidate for a common pleas judgeship vacancy created by the death of Judge George H McWherter.

Topper defeated Joseph M Loughran, former Democratic assistant district attorney, by a vote of 151 to 36 at a special convention of the Republican County Committee.

Topper, who is 51, immediately accepted the nomination and told the committee he will "try hard to win".

A former FBI agent, Topper completes the Republican judicial ticket for the Nov. 5 general election He will run with Robert H Rial and Avra N. Persning Jr., who were nominated for two regular court vacancies at the May 21 primary.

County Democrats have not yet set a date on which their third candidate will be nominated. Their other two candidates are Judge Edward G. Bauer, seeking a second term, and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco

50 Per Cent Turnout

Saturday's meeting of the GOP committee drew about a 50 per cent turnout. The credentials committee reported 191 ballots were issued to committee members or their proxies. There were about 75 of the latter.

In turning down Loughran, the Republicans rejected a "deal" reportedly offered by rebel Democrats who had backed Loughran in his unsuccessful primary campaign

According to reports circulating in the corridors of Greensburg High School before the meeting, the Loughran backers had offered to "go down the line" for the entire Republican ticket if their man was given the judicial nomination.

One report said they went even further and offered to back the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate next year.

But the GOP executive committee earlier last week had unanimously recommended that the

August 1 Is Target Date For Bridge Bids

August 1 has been set as an approximate target date for the advertising for bids for a new high-level bridge at Brownsville

According to Washington County legislator C O. Williams, if the advertising is placed in early August contracts will probably be awarded in September and the actual construction of the new bridge would begin later this year.

Some minor changes had to be made in the main 400 foot span but the alterations will not delay the progress being made on the new bridge

If construction is started this year, Brownsville will have a by-pass bridge and highway that will alleviate traffic congestion by late 1959

Lowery, Inc. Engineers, Harrisburg, the firm which is drawing up plans for the bridge, and state officials have already started consulting residents whose properties will be condemned by the span

A map showing the location of the bridge and its approaches is scheduled to be released.

Fifth, Biggest Atomic Blast Is Detonated

ATOP ANGEL'S Peak, Nev (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission detonated the fifth and heftiest atomic blast of its experimental series today with a mighty flash that shamed the post-dawn daylight.

Today's detonation was calibrated to be the first major test in the 20-shot summer experiments They are designed to test brand new civilian underground shelters, radiation - protective clothing for soldiers and civilians alike: and the effects of deadly radiation on foodstuffs.

Its blast field looked like a colony of giant trap-door spider dwellings. It was dotted with thick concrete dome structures which humans are intended to enter and leave via pop-up steel doors

A thunderous roar shook the Nevada proving grounds 75 miles northeast of here and 45 miles from this unofficial observers' site as the explosion was detonated It was set off from a platform suspended beneath a 67-foot diameter balloon held captive at 700 feet above Frenchman's Flat. Its power was estimated as equivalent to 30,000 tons of TNT, 10 000 more tons than the force of the Hiroshima-Nagasake bombs.

Legnard Sworn in As Allegheny Judge

PITTSBURGH (UP)—James G Legnard, first assistant city solicitor, was sworn in today as a judge of Allegheny County Court.

Area Highway Projects Are Showing Progress

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department today issued a progress report on its 75 million dollar improvement program to eliminate hazardous conditions on Pennsylvania roads which have resulted in repeated serious accidents, many involving trucks and multiple fatalities.

Highways Secretary Joseph J Lawler said a study showed that steep grades and sharp curves contributed to the accident, and gave this breakdown of work underway or contemplated:

Westmoreland County — Construction 65 per cent complete on relocation of Traffic Route 31 to divert 90 per cent of the traffic using that route through West Newton, scene of a truck crash in the fall of 1955. Receipt of bids June 21 for a five-mile section of a relief route for truck traffic which normally uses the three-mile hill adjacent to Laureville, and planning for an additional eight miles.

Somerset County—Plans 98 per cent complete for elimination of a hazard on Traffic Route 56 near Windber, which also will involve work in Bedford County.

Armstrong County—A study to relocate U.S. 422 as a bypass of Kittanning. The hazard is where about one mile of 8 per cent grade descends to an intersection with Traffic Route 66.

Clarion County—Plans for a relocation of U.S. 322 where it has long, steep grades on both sides of the Clarion River and right angle turns on the approaches to a bridge, to bypass Clarion Borough. Additional work is being held up because of the possibility the Keystone Shortway will be located in the vicinity.

West Brownsville borough council and Burgess James Forsythe will attempt to show why they should not be held in contempt of Washington County Court at a hearing scheduled for 10 a. m Friday.

President Judge Roy I. Carson will hear testimony in a case stemming from the "retirement" of Mel Deskins, former West Brownsville police chief.

Atty. Austin J. Murphy of Charleroi, counsel for the borough, said the entire "police force" was abolished at a meeting June 4 for "economic reasons" and not to force the retirement of Deskins

Deskins had originally been retired by the borough on July 31 of last year, then reinstated by order of the court The decision was appealed to Pennsylvania Supreme Court and upheld by the high court April 22.

Deskins charged that the retirement is in violation of the court order and claims the borough owes him $2,750 in salary. West Brownsville council claims it owes Deskins only $141.

19 Red Jets Invade Korean Truce Zone

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — Nineteen Communist MIG jet fighters invaded the air over the central area of the demilitarized Korean truce zone today, a republic of Korea defense ministry spokesman said.

The spokesman, vice - Minister Kim Chong Kap, said, however, that it was not established whether the MIGs, in four different waves, crossed over the zone into air south of the truce line.

The MIG's, according to a ROK intelligence source here, appeared over the villages of Chorwon and Kumhwa about 50 miles northeast of Seoul.

Kim quoted a ROK army report saying that the MIGs were definitely spotted over the demilitarized zone. But he added that the villages themselves were right at the truce line and it was therefore problematical whether the Soviet-built fighters actually crossed the line.

Eve of Anniversary

The spokesman said it was the first time ROK troops had seen such a large number of MIGs. He said the Red flight was "significant because it occurred on the eve of the 7th anniversary of the outbreak of the Korean War.

Government intelligence sources reported the Russian-built jets flashed over Chorwon and Kumhwa between 9 and 10 a m and then disappeared into North Korea.

A spokesman for the U S 5th Air Force at Onsan Air Base said Air Force personnel had received no report of a violation of the armistice by the planes

Both the U S Far East Air Force and U.S. Far East Command spokesmen in Tokyo said no official word had been received of a Communist air violation.

The Air Force spokesman said the planes would have been spotted on radar unless they came in at a very low altitude

A ROK defense ministry spokesman did not deny the report when queried on it and said "more de-

Missile Memos Drama Comes to Court Tomorrow

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UP)—The heralded case of the misguided missile memos comes to court Tuesday but it appears today that the drama will read like a letter from the front Every time it builds up to a climax the censor will start sniping.

Attorneys for the central figure, Col John C Nickerson, believe that fully a third of the testimony will be switched to private chambers. Security officers will be posted to yell "cut" whenever a witness on either side ventures into classified territory in the public courtroom

Nickerson, 41, a firm believer that the Army is best qualified to put intermediate range missiles into the sky, goes before a general court martial board charged with spilling secret data on the weapons of the future

He did so the Army charges, in memoranda taking the Defense Department to task for giving the Air Force control of such weapons and limiting the Army to comparative arrows in the 200-mile range.

Presbytery to Hear Report on Rehoboth

A report on the Rehoboth Church situation will be presented to the Redstone Presbytery, governing body of the Presbyterian Church, at a meeting in the Long Run Church near Irwin tomorrow.

A special investigating commission, set up to investigate reported disharmony within the Rostraver Twp. congregation, will submit a report to the Presbytery.

The Rev. Joseph E. Heckle, secretary of the commission, said today that he was not free to comment on the report

Last March, the Presbytery authorized the special commission to continue its "relationship" with Rehoboth Church "for the purpose of keeping in close touch with the development and progress of the church"

The investigation was touched off when the Rev. Nelson Jackaway, Rehoboth pastor, charged from the pulpit that political elements were agitating for his removal because of his activities in "Operation: Crusade" — a racket-busting movement of district ministers.

Dissenting members of the congregation, none of whom has been identified, reportedly appealed to the Presbytery for an investigation The Rev. Mr. Jackaway also asked for the probe.

In an earlier report, the Commission stated:

"While the Rev. Mr. Jackaway has shown a lack of discretion at times from the pulpit and has been somewhat tactless in his dealings with some members of the congregation, we find no malice in him."

Referring to the Rev. Mr. Jackaway's critics, the report said

"Those who have complained about the situation in the church have perhaps misconstrued things, which have been said, have been possibly too quick to criticize, but we feel that in their objections they have been motivated by a deep concern for the maintenance of the peace and purity of the church."

Almost Free of Fallout

WASHINGTON (UP)—Three top nuclear scientists told President Eisenhower today that the United States now is able to produce a nuclear bomb almost free of radioactive fallout.

The scientists, accompanied by Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss at a White House conference, declined to say whether such a weapon is now in production or whether future testing will be needed to perfect the "clean" bomb.

Strauss said the scientists could go no further publicly than to say they told the President that "considerable further progress" has been achieved in getting a "clean" bomb since Eisenhower's statement earlier this month that 90 per cent of radioactive fallout had been eliminated in the latest U.S. bombs.

Dr. Ernest O Lawrence added that the nine-tenths clean statement is now "highly conservative"

Lawrence, Dr Mark M. Mills and Dr. Edward Teller, all from the University of California radiation laboratory, were the three scientists who conferred with the President and Strauss this morning for 40 minutes.

Talk to Committees

Strauss said the scientists were here last week to testify before the Joint Atomic Congressional Committee and to confer with the AEC's division of military appropriations.

They stayed here to report to Eisenhower.

Lawrence said they brought the President "up to date in the latest developments toward clean nuclear weapons to solve the fall-out problem."

Lawrence said he wanted to emphasize that there is not "significant" fallout problem because of nuclear tests to date He said the fallout dangers from the testing have been negligible "compared with the fallout we have experienced from the sun since the beginning of time"

But he said the danger of fallout in event of a "great war" would be another matter.

The scientists told the President that it is now possible to produce nuclear weapons which would have a fallout more "negligible" than so far predicted to assure that such bombs would hit "military targets and not spread to innocent bystanders."

While the scientists hedged on getting too definite in answer to some questions, Strauss did say that the principle of a "clean" bomb was proved last spring, 'and we have not been sitting on our hands"

Teller, "father of the H-bomb,"

Baseball Players On Stand

WASHINGTON (UP) — Big league baseball players go to bat in a new field today — before a congressional investigating committee.

A House Judiciary Subcommittee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) opens its second week of hearings on professional sports with testimony by J. Norman Lewis, attorney for the Major League Baseball Players Assn.

Then the seven - man body planned to hear some of the sport's brightest stars — Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, Eddie Yost of the Washington Senators and Jerry Coleman of the New York Yankees.

The subcommittee is trying to decide whether baseball should be regulated under anti - trust laws laws and if so how rigidly. The sport now is immune from these statutes.

Represent Both Leagues

Roberts was invited to tesufy as a player representative of the National League, Yost for American League players and Coleman as player representative for the Yankees.

On completion of their testimony the subcommittee hoped to hear from three witnesses originally scheduled for last week—Na-C. Giles, American League President William Harridge and Leo De Orsey, a director of the Washington Senators.

Earlier a congressman from Brooklyn said baseball profit-and-loss figures show the Dodgers can afford to stay in Brooklyn instead of moving to Los Angeles.

Rep. John J. Rooney (D-N.Y.) cited a report made to the subcommittee disclosing the Brooklyn ball club made profits totaling $1,860,744 over the past five years.

Doing Very Well

Rooney said this showed Brooklyn's management was "doing very well" and probably could afford to build its own new stadium in Brooklyn. As a condition of staying in New York the Dodgers have proposed that the city build them a stadium.

Financial statements on operations of each of the 16 major league teams over the past five years were submitted to the subcommittee last week by baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick.

Frick, the main witness during the first week, asked the lawmakers not to recommend any move which would alter baseball's present immunity from anti-trust laws.

Minnesota Croplands Under Water; Four Persons Drown

By UNITED PRESS

Floodwaters inundated rich cropland and drove families from their homes in Minnesota today, and new floods plagued North Dakota and Oklahoma.

Four persons drowned Sunday, two of them in a rescue attempt, when their boats overturned on a flood-swollen tributary of the Mississippi River southeast of Hastings, Minn.

Dead were two teen-aged boys Anton Lynn and Wayne Frendrich, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lovejoy, about 40, all of near Hastings. A third teenager, Jeanette Kaiser, Hastings, swam to safety with the aid of a life jacket.

Authorities said the youths' boat overturned and witnesses called for help. The Lovejoys went to the aid of the youths, and their boat tipped over in the rescue attempt.

The worst flooding occurred along the Minnesota and Crow Rivers, which drain into the Mississippi. The Mississippi was expected to crest at 15½ feet, 6 inches above flood stage, at St Paul by Wednesday.

About 25 families were forced to flee their homes along the Crow, which discharges into the Mississippi near Dayton, Minn.

Farmers along the flooded Minnesota suffered disastrous washouts similar to those which occurred in 1951 and 1952. The river, normally only 200 feet wide, was swollen to nearly a mile at some points.

The Knife and Cannonball rivers in North Dakota also left their banks and swept over thousands of acres of farmland.

Elsewhere, hot, humid weather clung to the East, but relief was promised in the form of a cool air mass that pushed as far south as northern Texas and east to the upper Great Lakes.

The advance of the cooler air produced scattered severe thundershowers, with the heaviest rainfall reported at Nashville, Tenn., which was hit by more than an inch of precipitation.

Safecrackers Are Sought by Pittsburgh Police

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Police today sought three men, described as "professional safecrackers," who robbed two offices of $4,500 after binding and gagging a deaf mute watchman.

H. W. Willingham, the employe, in a written account said he surprised the thieves as they were working on a safe in the office of the S. A. Stewart Corp., a printing and bookbinding firm.

Willingham said the men pummeled him and bound him with a raincoat after robbing him of $28. Prior to robbing the Stewart office, the men broke into a safe at Caslon Press, Inc., in the same building.

Police said the robbers got $2,000 in cash from the Caslon safe and $200 from a petty cash box. At the Steward Company they took a "couple hundred of dollars" in cash and $2,000 in savings bonds.

GE Will Build Diesels for India

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—General Electric Company today reported receipt of contracts from two steel companies in India for a total of 29 diesel-electric locomotives.

GE spokesmen said the $2,100,000 order reflected a current expansion of heavy industry in India. Five of the locomotives will be built for Indian Iron and Steel Company, a private concern, and 24 for the state-owned Hindustan Steel Company.

GE said the locomotives would be fitted with special air filters for the engine cabs and tractor motors since they will operate in 120 degree heat, 100 per cent humidity and heavy dust.

Virginia Mayor, Council Swept Out of Office

EASTVILLE, Va. (UP) — This small town on the eastern shore of Virginia was in an uproar today over the results of a topsy-turvy election that swept the mayor and his six-man council out of office.

Elected on write-in votes were their wives and in one case the mother of a councilman.

The women, however, refuse to take office. They said the positions have been "made light of."

The men don't want their jobs back, either. They feel they've been made laughing stocks.

The trouble arose after the elections June 12 in which only 24 of the town's 110 registered voters turned out. The write - in votes which swung the election apparently were cast as a practical joke.

The women say they had nothing to do with the situation and have issued a statement declining to accept the voters' mandate.

Mrs. William R. Shannonhouse, who defeated her mayor husband by one vote, said the town's plight has been attracting a lot of attention elsewhere.

"We're getting calls to be on television shows," she said. "Magazines and newspapers are calling us — all because of a practical joke."

Mayor Shannonhouse said the Circuit Court of Appeals will have to decide what to do if the women remain steadfast against taking office. The present officials are scheduled to step out Sept. 1.

emphasized that the group's talk with the President was on strictly technical details.

He said the scientists informed the President "not only what has been accomplished" but what is hoped and planned for the future.

Asked if he would like to discuss what the future might hold, Teller replied, "the future is even more classified than the past."

Then, after joining in the laughter, he said this was so for two reasons: scientists are not allowed to talk about it and second, that they are not absolutely certain."

Strauss and the scientists declined to discuss current disarmament negotiations with reporters, saying they did not want to disturb the "delicate" situation in London.

Strauss said that "hopes" for disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen's success "must be our first consideration."

Pittsburgh Man Wins Another Stay of Execution

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Cleveland Thompson, Pittsburgh, twice convicted of a 1949 holdup murder and sentenced to death, won another stay of execution today when his attorney filed notice of appeal of the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Judge William F. Cercone granted the latest in the long series of stays which have marked the case on the petition of attorney Franklyn E. Confienti.

Thompson's first conviction was set aside by the state Supreme Court and a new trial granted after a lengthy legal battle. Last May 29, a jury convicted Thompson for the second time and recommended the death penalty.

Thompson was accused of shooting down bartender Wallace Russell, 56, during a holdup at the Barbary Coast Club in the city's Hill District.

Trial of Hoffa May Delay Ouster of Beck

WASHINGTON (UP)—The conspiracy-bribery trial of Teamster Vice President James R. Hoffa may further delay efforts to oust Dave Beck from the AFL - CIO Teamsters Union presidency, union sources said today.

Hoffa's trial got off to a slow start last week. The process of selecting a jury was still to be completed as it resumed today.

As a result union sources said they expect Beck to try to postpone a scheduled July 1 showdown meeting of the union's executive board on demands for Beck's resignation.

Hoffa, whose reputed role as "heir apparent" to the top Teamster post has been blighted by two federal indictments, is being tried here on charges of conspiring to plant a spy on the Senate Labor-management Rackets Investigation Committee. A co-defendant is Hyman Fischbach, Miami, Fla., attorney. The "spy," New York lawyer John Cye Cheasty, disclosed the alleged scheme to the committee and the FBI.

Hoffa, powerful Midwest Teamster leader, also faces trial later this year on another indictment charging him with illegally tapping the telephones in his own Detroit headquarters. His aim reportedly was to learn of any conversations with Senate committee staff members.

Teamster Vice President A. [illegible] William A. Lee of Chicago and Secretary-Treasurer John F. English are heading a drive to get Beck to quit before the union's September elections.

The move resulted from Senate committee disclosures of his use of more than $300,000 of union funds for himself and his family, and from subsequent demands from the AFL-CIO high command for his removal.

Under mounting pressure, Beck has said he will not run for re-election. He declared no one could force him to resign, but added he would be willing, if asked, to take a "leave of absence from his office for the remainder of his term. Informed sources said they think a leave-of-absence exit would be acceptable to a board majority.

If Beck agrees to leave, the Teamster board will have to pick someone to take over duties of the presidency until the convention election. This may be a knotty problem. Whoever is chosen will have an edge on influencing the next election. Teamsters leaders are by no means agreed on who should succeed Beck.

Hoffa, according to union sources, wants Beck to stay in office to avoid this situation. Hoffa's power, either as a candidate for the presidency or as a "kingmaker," would be [illegible]

Red Radio in Barrage Against U. S. in Korea

TOKYO (UP)—The Communist radio said today the Reds will "fight resolutely to defend the (Korean) armistice agreement" against the U.S. decision to match the Communist military buildup in the divided country.

Radio Peiping broadcast a round-the-clock barrage of statements by Red leaders in China and Korea saying "the United States must be responsible for all consequences" of the decision.

"The U.S. aggressive bloc regards South Korea, South Viet Nam and Taiwan (Formosa) as three fronts . . . for attack against (Red) China," said a broadcast quoting the Peiping "People's Daily."

"To prevent a relaxation of tension in Asia, they are using every conceivable means to tighten their control of these three military bases."

The propaganda barrage was touched off by the decision, announced Friday, to scrap paragraph 13D of the truce agreement. This paragraph forbids either side to bring new weapons into Korea.

It has been ignored by the Communists, who have moved some 700 Russian - made warplanes and sizeable quantities of other weapons into North Korea since the truce was signed.

Nevertheless, the Reds bitterly protested the Allied decision.

Turnpike Trial Moving into Fourth Week

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Pennsylvania Turnpike conspiracy trial moves into its fourth week today, with the defense slated to cross-examine a state witness who testified only about six per cent of mine filling work under the Northeastern Extension was of any value.

The witness Franz E. Kudlick, Kingston engineer and associate of the Pierce Management Co., Scranton, was on the stand for most of the day in the first Saturday session of the trial in Dauphin County Court.

The Pierce Firm's study last year formed the core of state charges of "made work" on a 1955 turnpike contract with the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp, Reading.

Kudlick also said in effect that the price charged by Manu-Mine was excessive and all necessary work could have been performed for less than $440 000, as compared to the $6,700,000 collected by Manu-Mine from the Turnpike Commission.

He testified the firm included expense figures for more heavy equipment than needed, and that weekly payments on the equipment were almost twice what they should have been for a four-year period claimed He also said the drill cost listed at $1 35 a foot was a 'very, very high figure" and it should have been "40 or 50 cents a foot"

The prosecution contends that Manu-Mine also 'padded' its cost figures to make it appear the firm was getting only 10 per cent profit from the job, but the profit actually approached 100 per cent

Among the nine on trial on conspiracy charges are Thomas J Evans Coaldale, former commission chairman, suspended Commissioner James F Torrance, Export: two top officials of Manu-Mine, and five men formerly employed by the turnpike.

Leader Exchanges Verbal Salvos With Top GOP

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M. Leader and Republican legislative leaders have exchanged verbal salvos over the record of the 1957 General Assembly to clearly define the top issues in the statewide election campaigns next year.

In weekend statements the governor said the session that ended last week was a "special interest, do-nothing Legislature—the worst in Pennsylvania history" while GOP leaders said they would make their economy record the prime issue of the campaign.

The governor directed his main fire at amendments to the sales tax law which exempted some segments of business and industry from the levy, and also charged that "Republican bosses cold-bloodedly turned their backs upon the needs of people and kowtowed to the whim of the big lobbyists"

"Republican leaders insisted on obstructing for obstruction's sake" he said "Clearly, they weren't interested in good government or what was good for the 11 million people of Pennsylvania; they were interested only in what they considered good for themselves"

On the Republican side House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson said the GOP would make its economy and no-new-tax records in the Assembly the party's 'bible" for the election campaigns

Johnson said that the governor "by his obstinacy has left himself no alternative but to launch a 'give-em-hell' campaign to discredit the honest achievements of Republicans in the Legislature"

"We accept his challenge" Johnson said 'We will stump this state from end to end and we will present the issue fairly In one hand we will have Leader's book of broken promises, and in the other we will have the record of a Republican-lead House and Senate"

Teen-agers Held in Murder of Father

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Three teen-agers were held today on homicide charges and two other boys were held as incorrigibles today in the ambush slaying of the father of one of the youths

Martin Daniels Jr 16 was accused of plotting the murder of his father while Curtis Ray Edwards 14 was accused of firing the shot Edwards' father was electrocuted two years ago for a holdup-slaying

Albert Sabolis 15 also was held for his participation in the plot

Charges of incorrigibility were lodged against Charles Ozalis 15 who furnished the deer rifle and the single bullet used in the slaying, and Ronald Curren, 15, who also knew of the plot

Homicide Capt David H Roberts said the victim Martin Daniels 35 a stevedore was killed by a single shot in the chest as he sat with his arm around William a 13-year-old son on the front steps of his home Saturday night

Daniels told Roberts that he Edwards and Sabolis went to Ozalis home and obtained a rifle and one bullet Then, he said they waited two hours behind a cemetery wall across the street from Daniels' home for the father to appear

Roberts quoted the Daniels boy as saying he thrust the rifle into Edwards hands and said, 'you'd better fire the shot because you're a better marksman'

After the shooting the three boys spent the night at Edwards home, had breakfast there, and were arrested in an automobile Sunday. Roberts said they confessed

Edwards father, Grover Cleveland Edwards was electrocuted at Rockview State Penitentiary for the murder of Isaac S Teitlebaum

Topper

full committee name only a "registered Republican" for the vacancy.

Chairman Edwin A Swink, in an opening statement to the convention, reiterated this position and added his personal endorsement

Lack of Enthusiasm

"I am for a Republican, first, last and always," Swink said.

And although Loughran had important support and there was noticeable lack of enthusiasm for Topper, the committee went along with the party leaders.

Topper was understood to be the only "registered Republican" lawyer who would accept the nomination and face up to the Democratic registration majority of about 50,000.

Topper is an alumnus of the University of Michigan, where he graduated with highest honors and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

He received his law degree from the University of Pennsylvania and has practiced for 27 years in Westmoreland County. He is a bachelor.

'Party of People'

Topper served a two-year term as Republican county chairman in 1951-52 He had previously been active in the Young Republican movement on both the state and county levels

Nominating Topper was Charles L Vogel, Jeannette city chairman. He urged the committee to take a position of 'conformity and unity.

'Our party is not a party of the racketeers," he said. "Ours is a party of the people, and we must not lead them into a trap by making deals with the opposition."

Obviously referring to the Loughran deal, Vogel said it would be expedience

"Expediency means disaster,' he said

Loughran's main support came from the New Kensington-Vandergrift area where he had made a strong showing in the primary battle.

Uncapher in Speech

Loughran's name was put in nomination by Clair Burlbaugh New Kensington Republican chairman

Burlbaugh did not make a speech however he left that to Andrew G Uncapher, Vandergrift attorney and former GOP county chairman, who seconded Loughran's nomination

'We have to consider who we are fighting, Uncapher said. 'We are not fighting Democrats — we are fighting the vice and corruption in Westmoreland County We have to lick this Turner outfit and the only way it can be done is to join forces with the independent Democrats."

He was referring to Chief County Detective Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner, reputed to be the boss of the Democratic courthouse machine

Uncapher cited primary statistics which show that Bauer and Sculco together received about 66,000 votes on both party tickets whereas the four other judicial candidates had polled a total of over 99,000.

Uncapher said this proves that Bauer and Sculco can be defeated by a coalition of Republicans and Democrats this fall He pointed out that Loughran had run third on both tickets and was therefore the candidate on which independent forces could unite.

'Wants to Win'

"I want to win," Uncapher concluded. "I want to upset this corruption in Westmoreland County But we are going to need lots of help to win"

The voting was by secret ballot While the assemblage waited for the votes to be counted, Vice Chairman Emma W. McIntire introduced several candidates for brief talks.

Pershing made a hard-hitting speech in which he called for all the citizens of Westmoreland County, Democrats as well as Republicans, to "join the cause of good government".

He admitted that the odds are great but he recalled the action of the people of Westmoreland County in the years just before the Revolution

'In the Hannastown Declaration written just a few miles from here,' Pershing said, "those people took a stand against heavy odds And there was no division no lack of unity and no fear among them"

Statement of Principles

Hannastown was then the Westmoreland County seat, and the Declaration was a forerunner of the Declaration of Independence

Pershing said the judicial candidates expect soon to issue a statement of principles as the basis for the forthcoming campaign

'This will be a statement which I'm sure you will be proud to support," he said "You can then enlist in the cause of good government"

Rial recalled the close contest he waged for district attorney with Sculco four years ago and said he thought he (Rial) had been the actual winner.

He was referring to the widespread vote frauds in Monessen and New Kensington which were designed to aid Sculco and other Democratic machine candidates. As it was, Sculco won by about 700 votes out of 110,000 cast.

Wayne R. Donahue, GOP candidate for district attorney, said the issue of this campaign is "bossism".

'I intend to hit it hard and often," he told the committee.

Ruth Love Objects

There was a brief stir of excitement when Ruth Love, adviser to "Operation: Crusade", an organization of racket-fighting Protestant ministers, objected to closing the nominations after only Topper and Loughran had been nominated

She apparently had not heard Chairman Swink call for other nominations before accepting the motion to close the nominations.

Mrs. Love agreed after the meeting that the incident was due to a misunderstanding.

Asked whether she had another candidate to suggest, she named Attorney Harold A. Stewart, of Latrobe, the GOP state committeeman from Westmoreland

However, Stewart had removed himself from consideration several weeks ago.

Building Service Employes Union Being 'Swamped'

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Charles C Levey, international vice president of the Building Service Employes union said today the organization has been 'swamped' with inquiries from state employes concerning membership in the union.

Levey, who is heading an organizational drive among state workers said the swing to union representation is the result of Gov George M. Leader's executive order of May 13 inviting the state's 65 000 employes to join labor organizations

Assisting Levey in the organizational campaign are Sid Miller international organizer and vice president of the state AFL, and Chris Pepe president of the Pennsylvania State Council of Public Employes

Miller met with a group of state workers at Pennsylvania State University today. Levey said that regional meetings are planned soon at Harrisburg, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh

Levey said his union is seeking a minimum hourly wage of $1 25 for state workers, many of whom now receive $1 an hour or less

"There has been no mention of a raise in the governor's budget and there seems to be great distress at Harrisburg over this issue," Levey said.

'Right-to-know' Law Signed by Governor Leader

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M Leader has signed into law so-called "right-to-know" legislation backed by Pennsylvania's newspaper organizations

The governor approved two companion measures requiring open meetings and public inspection of records of local political subdivisions and of some state agencies, including the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

The open meetings which the public will be entitled to attend apply to county commissioners' school districts, city councils and the governing bodies of boroughs and townships, the Turnpike Commission, and state authorities

The records bill provides for public inspection of their official documents at reasonable times.

The governor said the measures, both to become effective Sept. 1 "will help keep the government healthy"

They were backed by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Assn., the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors, and the United Press Editors of Pennsylvania

Gulf Oil Ups Prices; Blames Increased Costs

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Gulf Oil Corp boosted prices of its petroleum prices today because of increased costs including boosts in wages and other employe benefits

Gasoline kerosene distillate and naphtha went up 2 cents per gallon and residual fuel oil 5 cents per barrel

Gulf estimated that its domestic labor costs went up $13 500 000 a year as the result of worker benefits which generally became effective May 1

The price enforcement said the company can no longer absorb the full brunt of increases and still maintain income at the level required for the continued growth needed to meet mounting demands

The company said its 1957 capital requirements will exceed the all time high of 466 million dollars of last year The per barrel cost of finding and producing domestic crude oil said has risen sharply for several years

The company said it is making heavy investments in refining equipment to meet product quality demands and construction and marketing equipment costs have reached new highs

State to Study Raw Materials

UNIVERSITY PARK Pa (UP) —Pennsylvania State University will undertake a study to provide estimates of the supplies of coal oil and gas available to the Commonwealth in the future and of their expected cost, it was announced today.

The study, to be made for the Pennsylvania State Planning Board will be supervised by Dr John J. Schanz, assistant professor of mineral economics.

Schanz said the study would enable researchers to determine if the cost of energy from nuclear sources would make it an economically attractive source of power in Pennsylvania in the foreseeable future.

Wants American Troops Pulled From Overseas

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep Noah M Mason (R-Ill) has called for removal of American troops from all foreign countries where no U.S. interests are involved

He urged this course Sunday night in denouncing the government decision to let Japan try GI William S. Girard for killing a Japanese woman on a firing range near Tokyo

Simultaneously a Japanese newsman said his countrymen are incensed over the Girard case because they are avid fans of U.S Western movies in which shooting in the back is against the code of honor. Girard is accused of firing an empty cartridge from a grenade launcher that struck Mrs Naka Sakai in the back as she was picking up spent shells on the firing range. She died from the shot.

The government is preparing an all-out defense of its position for an extraordinary Supreme Court review July 8. Officials fear an adverse Supreme Court decision might seriously cripple arrangements under which American troops are permitted in foreign countries

The high court has prolonged its current term to speed a final decision in the internationally important case.

The 'Verdict' on Pictures in Court

JUDGE J. Frank Graff of Armstrong County, who permitted photographers in his courtroom to cover a murder trial as an experiment, has now given his "verdict".

"They (the photographers) didn't bother me at all," he says. "I don't see why photographers should be kept out of courtrooms if they don't disrupt proceedings.

"There is no reason to keep photographers out of court. They are just as welcome as reporters."

Judge Graff's reaction has been about the same as that of numerous other judges throughout the nation who have had first-hand experience with modern photographic techniques as they can be used to supplement news reports.

Yet, as matters now stand, it is "unethical" for a judge to allow pictures to be made in a courtroom while court is in session. One of the Canons of Judicial Ethics, adopted by the American Bar Association a generation or more ago, still maintains that the making of pictures tends to "degrade" the proceedings.

We would submit to any fair-minded judgment as to whether or not the published pictures of the Armstrong County trial were "degrading". On the contrary, we thought they conveyed a definite impression of the solemnity of the proceedings.

Still more important, in our opinion, the pictures "described" the courtroom scene far more eloquently and accurately than it could have been done by the best-trained reporter.

COURTS are a vital part of our government. And it is important, under our democratic system, that the people have the fullest possible knowledge of what goes on in every aspect of the government, including the courts.

That news photography can add measurably to this knowledge is beyond argument. And it is now being demonstrated in such experiments as that sanctioned by Judge Graff that photographs can be made without the slightest loss of the dignity and decorum which everyone agrees are essential in the courtroom.

It is time the Canons of Judicial Ethics were brought up to date.

The GOP Choice

AN OBSERVER attending the meeting of the Westmoreland County Republican Committee in Greensburg Saturday could sense that the members were not enthusiastic about either of the two choices with which they were confronted in nominating a candidate for judge of the common pleas court.

They chose Willis E. Topper, a former Republican county chairman, rather than Joseph M. Loughran, a Democrat who for many years was part of the Democratic courthouse machine and then left it when its bosses refused to slate him for judge.

It was no secret that Mr. Topper was chosen because he was the only Republican attorney willing to accept the nomination and make a campaign. This is not a reflection on Mr. Topper, who is a reputable gentleman, but it happens to be the truth that none of the outstanding Republican lawyers in the county were interested in the nomination or could be induced to accept it.

The suggestion that the Republicans pick up Mr. Loughran, who made a strong race but was defeated in the primary, was an obvious piece of expediency. It was based on the notion, which undoubtedly is true, that it is going to take a lot of independent Democratic votes to elect any of the three Republican judicial candidates.

The weakness of Mr. Loughran's position, however, both in the primary and at the Republican committee convention on Saturday, was that he had lived too long with the courthouse machine and has been divorced from it too recently to make an entirely convincing champion of decent government and clean politics. Although we had hoped Mr. Loughran could defeat one of the machine's candidates in the primary, we could never quite decide whether his newly found independence was based on principle or on personal ambition. His action in the forthcoming campaign may make that more clear.

The Democrats have now to designate their third judicial candidate. And they have no dearth of eager candidates. It is a forlorn hope that the machine bosses will permit the nomination of some outstanding, independent Democratic lawyer. But we venture to voice that hope anyway.

Today and Tomorrow—

How Much Arms Cut Is Possible?

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The role Mr. Stassen has to play in the London disarmament talks is a very difficult one — that of negotiator for a group of governments all with diverse opinions among their own people. This is the great advantage of Mr. Zorin, who speaks for a government that can take quickly decisions that will not be questioned at home. It is not surprising, then, that in the give-and-take the Russians have got-ten the initiative and have the ears of the world.

Mr. Lippmann

There is reason to think that the four leading powers on the Western side — Great Britain, France, Germany and the United States — have not come to a full understanding on a fundamental question. This was revealed last week, I think, in the letter which Mr. Macmillan sent to Marshal Bulganin.

Speaking of a Soviet proposal for "immediate full-scale reduction in the armed forces of the major powers", Mr. Macmillan said that his government could not agree to that unless it were at the same time "assured of parallel settlements in the political field" — particularly a settlement which could end on Western terms the division of Germany. Then at the end of his letter, after repeating that "great problems still divide us" about Germany, about Hungary, about the Middle East, Mr. Macmillan said in his last paragraph that "among the major international questions the one where there is most need for progress is the field of both conventional and nuclear disarmament."

Two Propositions

What we have here are two propositions: the first, that extensive reduction in armaments cannot be agreed to until there are political settlements of the great world problems; the second, that among all international questions the one where there is the most need of progress is disarmament. My own view is that both propositions are true, and that the real, and as yet unresolved problem of disarmament is to work out an allied policy which reconciles them.

All the major Western powers are beset by the conflict between these two propositions. The practical question is how to make some progress towards disarmament without becoming substantially disarmed before the great political issues are settled.

On the whole, the conservatives do not want to go far towards disarmament until they feel assured that Germany will be reunified on the terms proposed by the West. British Labor and the German Social Democrats, on the other hand, want to move faster and farther towards disarmament, and they are willing at the same time to modify the terms on which they would settle political issues, like that of German reunification.

How much disarmament would be enough to meet the "need for progress"? How much disarmament would be too much if there is no political settlement of the German question? These are hard questions. Yet it is not impossible, I think, to see the general principle of an answer. What all the nations need in the near future is not so much to reduce the armaments they now have as to put some limit on the competition which threatens to become intolerably dangerous, expensive and nerve-wrecking.

Arms Costs Rising

The crucial fact is that the current race of armaments, which began with the Second World War, is radically different not only in degree but in kind from any which has preceded it. For military technology is advancing so rapidly — is rendering obsolete today what was thought to be highly advanced yesterday — that statesmen and people no longer understand their own armaments sufficiently to base stable policies upon them. They cannot calculate the cost, except that they know that to stay ahead in the race they must commit themselves to expenditures that kill constantly rise.

The net of it all is that armaments are no longer the mere reflection, as they were in the past, of the political tensions among the powers. Because of the galloping, armed runaway, technological revolution, the race of armaments has become not a secondary but a primary problem. That is why Mr. Macmillan, we may take it, after adhering to the traditional position that armaments must reflect the political situation, went on to declare that something must be done about armaments even though nothing is done about the political situation.

'Standstill' Favored

That something, which most needs to be done is what, if I have understood him correctly, the President advocated in his latest press conference. It is to work out an agreement with reasonable safeguards which will be [illegible] of a "standstill" in the [illegible] armaments.

[illegible] to be extended for a trial period the testing of nuclear weapons would be such a standstill. It would not be disarmament. It would not be a settlement of the great issues that divide the world. But it would introduce into a competition that is becoming wildly irrational the principle of reason and the quality of good sense.

Humphrey Stocks Probed

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — For the first time in the four years he has been in office, the public has had a chance to look at the stocks owned by Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. They were inserted in the Record last week by Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Mr. Pearson

If you take the trouble to compare those stocks with the earnings of those stocks, they show an amazing income for the man who runs the nation's Treasury.

Secretary Humphrey owns 67,555 shares of common stock in the M. A. Hanna Co., founded by the famous Mark A. Hanna, the Ohio political boss who put President McKinley in office.

The financial report of the M. A. Hanna Co., issued for 1956, boasts of the best profits in its history. It was meant, of course, for the eyes of stockholders, not for the prying eyes of a Senate committee.

"The consolidated net profit for the M. A. Hanna Co. for 1956," says the annual report, "amounted to $19,491,884. This is an all-time record, exceeding by 25 per cent the 1955 record of $15,602,703. Dividends of $3 a share, paid on both classes of common stock, amounted to $9,274,176."

This $3 dividend, paid on Secretary Humphrey's 67,555 shares, means that he made $202,665 last year from M. A. Hanna stock alone. This does not include profits from the tremendous holdings he had in affiliated companies.

So the big question senators want to ask is: Did Secretary Humphrey profit from his own fiscal policies and did he use undue influence to benefit his own companies while he occupied the most potent cabinet post?

Refused to Sell Stock

When he was up for Senate confirmation, Jan. 19, 1953, Senator Byrd asked him:

"The law says you shall not directly or indirectly be concerned or interested in carrying on the business of trade or commerce. . . . While you are Secretary of the Treasury will you engage in any business or trade or commerce personally, directly or indirectly?"

Mr. Humphrey: "I will engage in no business whatever personally or indirect."

Sen. Byrd: "Will you attempt while you are Secretary of the Treasury to prosecute or to help forward or to continue or to carry on any of the businesses with which you have been identified?"

Mr. Humphrey: "I will not. I am completely out."

Sen. Byrd: "I think you have stated it with sufficient clarity, but I want to make it clear again, you do not intend to influence any of these companies in any way in the conduct of their businesses while you are Secretary of the Treasury?"

Mr. Humphrey: "I will have no connection with the management of these businesses."

During this cross-examination, Humphrey refused to sell his stock. He argued that the law did not forbid him to own stock, and he cited his law firm as authority. One of these lawyers, Chapman Rose, was then made assistant Secretary of the Treasury, while his brother, Nelson Rose, was made counsel of the Treasury's Internal Revenue Service.

Humphrey's Business Thrives

As Humphrey stepped into the most powerful fiscal position in the world, he handed the reins of his company largely to his son Gilbert. He then became a director of the World Bank, the dominant figure on the Export-Import Bank, a director of the Foreign Trade Zones Board and chairman of the National Advisory Council on International Monetary and Financial Problems.

What he did affected not only the amount of taxes we pay, the collection of those taxes, and interest rates all over the United States, but it also affected whether certain countries received loans.

In 1953, Brazil needed $300,000,000 from the Export-Import Bank. The State Department OK'd the loan, but the Treasury balked. When Brazilian Ambassador Walter Moreira Salles went to Treasury assistant Randolph Burgess, Burgess stated bluntly:

"My boss doesn't like Brazil very much." Then he went on to tell how the Hanna Company had been negotiating for a manganese concession in Amapa in the northern Amazon but how Bethlehem Steel got the concession instead.

Thereafter Brazilian National Steel, 85 per cent owned by the Brazilian government, canceled a long-standing arrangement to buy coal through Eastern Fuel and Gas. It had been buying coal for about 10 years, was entirely satisfied with Eastern's coal. But it contracted for its high-volatile coal from Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal, a Hanna subsidiary, buying only low-volatile coal from Eastern. Thereafter, Brazilian National Steel borrowed an additional $35 million from the Export-Import Bank.

Secretary Humphrey, according to the Senate record, owns 20,000 shares of Pittsburgh Consolidation.

Value Increases

On Jan. 1, 1953, when George Humphrey became Secretary of the Treasury, Pittsburgh Consolidation stock had a market value of $126,160,704. On March 12, 1957, it had a market value of $368,306,250. In other words, it had increased in value $242,145,546 during the period George Humphrey was Secretary of the Treasury.

The value of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal stock, as listed on Page 15 of the annual report of the Hanna Co., is $45.50 per share. At this figure, Secretary Humphrey's block of 20,000 shares, which he told Senators he had a right to keep, is now valued at $910,000.

Pittsburgh Consolidation also profited from another move which the Eisenhower administration did nothing to stop. It merged with Pocahontas Fuel, which produces a type of metallurgical coal necessary for steel production.

A merger between Pittsburgh Consolidation, the biggest coal company in the world, and Pocohontas, another giant, should have brought anti-trust action from the Justice Department. None was taken.

The Justice Department moved against Secretary Wilson's former company, General Motors, in which he sold his stock, but did not move against Secretary Humphrey's company, in which he did not sell his stock.

Behind The News—

Russia Seeks to Be Mediterranean Power

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia seems to be making a determined attempt to establish itself as a Mediterranean power.

Several motives have been suggested for the current movement of Russian naval units into the Mediterranean from both the Baltic and Black seas.

Mr. McCann

Officially, three submarines which went into the Mediterranean from the Baltic, after moving ostentatiously through the narrow English Channel, have been handed over to Egypt.

Officially also, a cruiser, two escort ships and three motor torpedo boats which entered the Mediterranean from the Black Sea are preparing for maneuvers.

But two of the three submarines are big ones which Egypt could not possibly man even if they were suitable for its use, presumably in blockading the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping.

Spy On Fleet

The two big ones may have been moved in to spy on the powerful United States 6th Fleet which is based in the Mediterranean.

As regards the "maneuvers" explanation for the presence of the surface craft, there is good reason to believe that Russia is making a show of strength for the benefit of the Arab countries, to demonstrate that the 6th Fleet has no monopoly in Mediterranean waters.

The movement probably is intended also as an answer to the recent visit of British warships to Turkish ports in the Black Sea, which Russia likes to think of as a private lake.

Turkey is somewhat disturbed by the Russian activity.

For more than a century, Russia has been trying to break Turkey's control of the Dardanelles Straits, which links the Black Sea with the Mediterranean, in order to gain free access to the Mediterranean.

Turkey Aware Of Position

Turkey is acutely aware of its delicate strategic position.

It is the only North Atlantic Treaty country except Norway which has a frontier facing the Soviet Union, and Norway's is only a few miles wide, far above the Arctic Circle.

On its southern frontier, Turkey has Syria, which is now ruled by a government even more pro-Russian than Egypt's. And Bulgaria, a supine Russian satellite, borders on European Turkey.

Hence Turkey views any Russian move like the present one as part of a design to encircle and isolate it.

As regards Russia's ambitions in the Mediterranean, the present bid started when the Soviet government arranged for Communist Czechoslovakia to supply Egypt with arms.

Proposed Intervention

It may be recalled also that when Great Britain and France invaded the Suez Canal zone last November, Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin wrote President Eisenhower proposing joint Russian-American intervention "under the auspices of the United Nations."

Bulganin said the United States had strong naval forces in the Mediterranean — the 6th Fleet. He said Russia also had strong naval and air forces available for intervention at points which he did not specify but which must have been based on the Black Sea.

Eisenhower rejected that bid. But Russia evidently is trying again to elbow its way into the Mediterranean.

The Woman's View—

Women 'Joiners' Are Great for Conventions

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK, (UP) — We women, bless us, take our club conventions seriously. But from a man's eye view, we frequently are funny, sometimes frustrating, and always frantic.

We also are "squirrels," collecting every booklet, every souvenir, every other bit of free material. "The shopping bag is a woman delegate's identification badge when a convention is in town," said Richard W. Reuter, executive director of CARE, Inc., the international aid organization.

Gay Pauley

Reuter, an affable and charming man in his late 30's, should be pretty much of an authority. He speaks each year to about 10,000 "joiners" — both men and women — at various state, regional and national conventions, to sell the cause of CARE.

Not Ridiculing Ladies

Reuter said he would give the "as others see us" lowdown, only if I would explain he is not ridiculing the lady conventioneer.

"Otherwise," he said, "I may never be asked to speak again."

"The women, I love them," said Reuter. "They're more attentive, maybe because after years of listening to husbands pontificate, they're worn down. They're liberal with their questions. They want to know.

"They work harder at conventions than men do. And they're more apt to follow through on any stand they take."

Reuter said the woman takes her convention meetings seriously. "And she puts a high priority on the serious speaker," he added. "Any asides the speaker might think are funny, just fall flat. The average delegate feels cheated if the talk is light."

Digs Into Activities

The women digs into social activities with the same gusto.

"The girls are inveterate sightseers," said Reuter. "They're determined not to miss a thing. The women show up for every breakfast, every tea—they don't go for cocktail parties—and every reception."

But Reuter said the one thing that amazes him most about us women at a convention is the way we eat.

"The menu always is heavier than for a men's group," he said. "The women want the works... right down to the last gooey parfait."

At the White House—

Texan not Impressed

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

The President's golf club, Burning Tree, may be the most exclusive in Washington but it doesn't rate very high by some Texas standards.

Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.), a club member, tells of taking a fellow Texan out to Burning Tree. Mahon thought his guest might be impressed on seeing the club where Eisenhower plays. The Texan was mighty disappointed.

Seems the spartan furnishings of the small stone and brick clubhouse failed to measure up to the clubhouse "we have back home."

The Texan might have been impressed more by a stag party held there recently. Tables were set up around the first tee and white-coated waiters tended to the wishes of the gathered "VIP" members.

A highlight was a contest to see who could tell the best golf story. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Deputy Attorney General William P. Rogers were judges. One of the best story tellers was Panama Ambassador Ricardo Arias.

Washington's heat waves cause a lot of headaches for White House gardeners who have 18 acres of grass, 350 trees, and a multitude of flowers and shrubs to keep thriving.

So far, chief gardener Robert Redmund reports, the grounds are "surviving pretty well." Sprinklers and 700 feet of irrigation pipe have been a boon to Redmund.

Some of the sprinklers have been going night and day near the 132-year old American elm planted by John Quincy Adams, and the two handsome magnolia trees planted by Andy Jackson.

The government this year will be billed for all the water used in keeping the lawns green. The district government used to pick up the tab, but it recently installed meters.

That's one reason all the sprinklers and the irrigation pipe haven't been operating around the clock, Redmund's worried about the bill.

Anne Wheaton, new associate White House press secretary, has put her own interpretation on a familiar phrase—"the lid is on."

The phrase is used at lunchtime and at the end of the day when the White House press office closes up shop temporarily. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty tells newsmen "the lid is on"—meaning no more news will be given out until further notice.

The other day, Anne announced "the lid is on" and that she was going out to "get a new lid." Turned out she had an appointment with her hairdresser.

"Is It Time for a Color Change?"

By James V. Bonafed

We've written about trying hair colour for the first time. This week let's discuss another phase of hair colouring. Suppose you have tinted hair, and you're tired of the shade. Can you change to another colour easily?

-o-

This depends upon the type of hair colouring used, the present health of your hair. For instance, let's suppose you've had your hair bleached to a very light blonde for a long time. Can you become a golden blonde, or a lovely light ash-brownette? Yes . . . but your hair will require very special treatment for a proper changeover. After extensive bleaching, the ends of your hair may show slight damage. The hair close to the scalp is young and healthy and will take hair colouring quite smoothly. However, on the ends we will use a hair conditioning agent before applying a brand new shade. Then we "pack" the ends with a special professional colour formula. And before we're finished we'll retouch all your hair to insure a lovely natural colour. You will look and feel radiantly beautiful!

-o-

Does all this sound complicated" It is! Hair colouring is a specialized job . . . only a skilled cosmetologist is properly trained to do it well. Please don't ever attempt to change your hair colour at home. Let our experience and training keep you lovely!

-o-

Suppose you'd like a streak of silver or blonde colour against dark hair. Should you have your streak put in before or after a permanent wave? Here again depend on our experts. We assure you perfect results with either method . . . but we prefer to add your glamorous streak after your permanent. Hair is more porous after a permanent wave. It takes colour faster and smoothly. Plan to make a date for your permanent wave this week. And we will give you a dramatic streak next week!

MHS Home Opener to Be Delayed

Monessen High's 1957 footballers will not appear at Memorial Stadium until September 27. The Greyhounds will play their first two games on the road: at Windber on Sept. 14 and at Monongahela on Sept. 20. The home opener will be against Uniontown. . . . Incidentally, the Greyhounds have quite a schedule lined up. The remaining foes include Hempfield, Brownsville, Redstone, Johnstown, Charleroi, Duquesne and Donora. That adds up to ten double-A foes in a row . . . The Monessen Jayvees have contests scheduled with McKeesport, Uniontown, Clairton and Brownsville.

Charleroi's Gus Brickner still hopes to leave for England on July 14 to take a crack at the English Channel. Gus is the first to admit that he hasn't the financial backing, now that his original sponsors have pulled out. However he's hoping the big United Steelworkers union will come to his assistance. Himself a steelworker, Gus figures the union might be willing to sponsor his Channel attempt. In the past local unions in Donora and Charleroi have promoted Brickner swims. . . . Meanwhile Gus continues to practice daily.

Bellmar Has Never Topped MHS Cagers

A reader wants to know if Bellmar has ever defeated Monessen in basketball. The answer is no. The Hurricanes have lost six straight cage assignments to the Greyhounds. However Belle Vernon won two of eight games from MHS in the past: North Belle Vernon won one of seven; and Vernon took one of three . . . Incidentally Rostraver has never defeated the Monessen cagers. And the Leps have had 14 chances . . . Monessen's PONY League All-Star selections are made by secret ballots cast by managers and league officials.

Negotiations are underway now for an overweight match in August between welterweight champion Carmen Basilio and Wilf Greaves. The contest, if arranged, will be staged at Forbes Field . . . The sports program at Washington High School cleared almost $3,000 the past season. Both football and basketball showed profits to offset losses in other sports . . . Ed Drapcho, Penn State's standout southpaw, has been sent to Reading in the Eastern League by the Cleveland Indians. He's considered an outstanding prospect.

Bulazo Had Great Coaching Record

George Bulazo, the new West Newton High principal, turned in quite a job during his four years as Golden Hornet football boss. His teams were always well-coached and provided West Newton fans with lots to cheer about . . . New Eagle's Furiga family obviously likes baseball. Frank Furiga is the veteran manager of the home town nine. His son Vic is the club's leading pitcher. And his wife, Helen, keeps score . . . Incidentally the New Eagle boys are quite proud of their new diamond at the old Monongahela race track. It promises to develop into one of the finest baseball sites hereabouts.

Patterson Camp in Big Publicity Stunt

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — The announcement that Olympic champion Pete Rademacher would be Floyd Patterson's next heavyweight title opponent, after he disposes of Hurricane Jackson, shapes up today as boxing's biggest hoax or its most dismal disgrace.

The feeling here is that it must be a publicity gag to gather a bit of free print for the impending "fight of the century" between Patterson and the zephyr from Far Rockaway. They just couldn't be serious.

The next thing you'll be hearing as the tom-toms thunder in old-time abandon is that Patterson saved somebody from drowning and that Jackson captured a wild boar single-handed, meaning that he didn't even need both of them.

Team For Free

Because you not only could obtain Rademacher for the alleged $250,000 guarantee but you could get the rest of the U.S. Olympic boxing team thrown in for free on such a deal.

To think of throwing Rademacher in against Patterson is like stopping a berserk elephant with a champagne cork. Give poor Pete a meat cleaver in each hand and I'll still lay you 10 to 5 he wouldn't last three heats.

Even his Olympic manager, Milt Holt, had but few kind words for Rademacher before the young giant surprised everyone, including himself, by winning the heavyweight title at the Australian games. Holt shook a harried head when Rademacher was mentioned, admitted that the lad could punch somewhat, but implied sadly that the chin was strictly from China.

Guarantee Dead Giveaway

All of which makes Jack Hurley's announcement, that he would post a $250,000 guarantee on a Rademacher - Patterson fight, a dead giveaway as a publicity build-up for the Jackson bout. This is the ancient maestro's manner of paying off Cus D'Amato, Pat Patterson's manager, for naming Hurley the West Coast promoter of an if-and-when title bout in those precincts.

They must be readying the most colossal fraud of all time if they actually mean to try to put the 29-year-old Rademacher, a pro novice, in against Patterson.

Hurley, D'Amato et al can be laughed at for this comic suggestion. But if they're serious, they ought to be shot.

Meyer Making Comeback Try

By UNITED PRESS

Jack Meyer, once regarded as the Philadelphia Phillies' top pitching prospect, is earnestly hitting the comeback trail in the International League — scene of his greatest triumphs.

Sunday he turned in the Miami Marlins' first complete game victory since June 6, scattering five hits in Miami's 3-2 defeat of Montreal.

In other games, Rochester dumped Richmond out of first place, with a 4-2, 6-5, doubleheader sweep. Havana outslugged Toronto, 8-5, and Buffalo split a twin bill with Columbus, taking the first game, 1-0, and dropping the nightcap, 6-2.

Paul Harney Wins His First Major Golf Event

FLINT, Mich. (UP)—Paul Harney, perennial "bridesmaid" of professional golf, said today he was "lucky" to win his first major pro tourney—the $37,000 Carling Open.

The 27-year-old Bolton, Mass., bachelor and long-ball hitter said he was trying to keep ahead of defending champion Dow Finsterwald when he fired a 68 to win first place and $5,700 with his nine-under-par 275 total for the 72 holes.

"I knew he was the man to watch," Harney said. "And I guess he really was." He laughed and said, "I guess I was lucky to win."

Finsterwald shot a 69 to finish second, three strokes behind Harney. Finsterwald, whose share of the purse was $3,700, would have picked up an additional $2,000 if he had won the title a second time.

won a major professional title in this country before the Carling Open, he is among the top 15 money winners this year. His winnings in the official PGA money list total $9,811.25. But prize money in other tournaments boosted his earnings to approximately $12,000.

Bob Inman, Detroit, fired a 67 to take third place, jumping from a tie for 17th at the 54-hole mark. Tied for fourth with 280 were Doug Sanders, Miami Beach, Fla.; Ken Venturi, San Francisco; Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa.; and Gardner Dickinson, Panama City, Fla.

Monessen Plays Donora Tonight

Ozarks Hope to Regain Winning Form Against Improving Visitors

Manager Pappy Johnson's Monessen Ozarks, who are either real good or real bad, will try to get back into a winning groove tonight when they play host to Donora at Ninth Street Park.

Last week the Ozarks were real bad. They lost all three of their Mon Valley League assignments to slip into sixth place in the standings.

That isn't quite as bad as it sounds. The Ozarks are really only two and a half games out of third place.

A solid win streak will boost them right back into contention.

The Ozarks will probably call on their mound ace Bill Mitnick to get them back into the race. Mitnick has already won seven games this season, but he was hit hard in his last appearance.

Have Moved Fast

The visiting Donorans, managed by the veteran Harry Suckels have come along fast in recent weeks and there are those who claim Donora will wind up winning the pennant chase.

Other games tonight will show Van Voorhis at Fayette City, Donor at Monessen, New Eagle at Charleroi and Perryopolis at West Newton.

Fayette City currently heads the chase, holding a solid two and a half game spread over second place Charleroi.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Failure to Adjust

How often have you heard a golfer complain that he would have had a good score — except for that one lousy hole? And how often have you said it yourself?

Lousing up your score on one hole stems from an unwillingness to sacrifice a single stroke to get the ball back on the proper track. The player gets into a tough spot in the rough. A seasoned pro would take a lofted club and pitch the ball back on the fairway. He'd gladly settle for a bogey to avoid the threat of a much higher score.

But your week-end player keeps trying for a miracle, regardless of the odds against the shot. So he goes from a tough spot to a tougher one. And his stroke total keeps mounting.

As he posts that 8 or 10 on the scorecard, he relizes that he should have made a sensible sacrifice as soon as he got in trouble. But by then, of course, it's too late.

Hoad, Gibson Favored in English Tourney

LONDON (UP)—Strong, silent Lew Hoad of Australia and lanky Althea Gibson of New York were strong title favorites as the All-England lawn tennis championships opened today at Wimbledon.

Hoad was a firm 6-5 choice to become the first player to win the men's singles crown twice in succession since Don Budge of the United States turned the trick in 1937-38.

Miss Gibson, top-seeded in the women's singles, remained a 1-2 favorite to walk off with that division's title and thus become Wimbledon's first Negro champion.

The 29-year-old New Yorker does not swing into action until Tuesday, but Hoad was scheduled to open proceedings today against Pierre Darmon of France.

Almost simultaneously, play will also start on 15 other Wimbledon courts, where the foremost amateur tennis players have vied for the unofficial world championships since 1877.

Opening Matches

Sixty-four opening round matches in the men's singles were listed on the opening program. Following the Hoad - Darmon match, Hamilton Richardson of Westfield, N.J., meets Luis Ayala of Chile on the center court. Richardson, the United States' top-ranked player, was seeded third for this tournament.

Di Biaso Meets Kedwin Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) — Welterweight Tony DiBiase of Astoria, N.Y., is favored at 13-5 to beat Gale Kerwin of Valley Stream, N.Y., tonight in their televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

DiBiase registered four knockouts in his 17 victories.

Canadian-born Kerwin stopped five opponents in his 23 wins. He lost four bouts and had one draw.

Cincy Homers Top Pittsburgh Twice

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs wielded the big bat Sunday in winning a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3 and 5-2.

The Redlegs hit five homers, accounting for eight runs. George Crowe hit one in each game and Frank Robinson, Don Hoak and Smoky Burgess collected the others. Crowe drove in four runs in the first game and one in the second.

In the first inning of the opener Crowe and Robinson hit back-to-back homers off Art Swanson to account for four runs and the Pirates never caught up. The Redlegs clinched the nightcap when Hoak, Crowe and Burgess homered off Ron Kline in the third inning.

Tempers flared over "dusting" incidents and close decisions. Once, Kline threw one close to Robinson's head and it appeared for a time a fight would break out between the teams.

In the fifth inning of the nightcap Tom Acker "dusted" of Frank Thomas and Umpire Stan Landes warned both managers any more such tactics would cause him to eject the offenders.

Manager Bobby Bragan of the Pirates was put out of the first game by Umpire Frank Dascoli for protesting a base decision in the fifth inning. Toward the finish of the second game pitcher Bob Purkey and first baseman Dee Fondy of the Pirates were ejected by Landes for pantomiming that Raul Sanchez of the Redlegs was using the spitball.

Purkey walked from the Pittsburgh bench to the edge of the diamond while sprinkling water from a bucket, indicating Sanchez allegedly was throwing spitters.

Fondy took off his dark glasses after he was given the thumb and offered them to Landes.

The Pirates open a three-game series with the Cubs at Chicago Tuesday. The Pirates are in seventh place a few percentage points ahead of the Cubs, but are a half-game behind the Cubs in the won-lost column.

Judge to Rule Today in IBC Monopoly Case

NEW YORK (UP) — Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan planned to give his "bust-up" decision in the International Boxing Club monopoly case today.

His verdict will contain remedies for breaking up the Jim Norris - Madison Square Garden-IBC combine, already found guilty of monopoly in its conduct of title fights.

The judge indicated at last week's hearings that his remedial orders will be thorough, although perhaps not as severe as those requested by attorneys from the Anti-Trust Division of the Department of Justice.

He intimated that his star remedy—his knockout punch — would force Norris and partner Arthur Wirtz to sever all connections with boxing in New York State and permit them to operate on a modified scale only in the Midwest.

Such a severance could be accomplished, the judge explained, by forcing Norris and Wirtz to sell their 2 million dollars worth of stock in the Madison Square Garden Corp., and drop off all connections with that organization.

Chief Stockholders

Norris and Wirtz are chief stockholders in the Garden Corp., which owns the International Boxing Club of New York. They also control the Chicago Stadium, which owns or did own the IBC of Illinois.

Other remedies intimated by the judge would include abolition of exclusive contracts with fighters, compulsory leasing of the Garden to independent promoters for title fights at reasonable rentals, abolition of exclusive contracts with outside arenas, restriction of the Garden Corp. to two title fights a year and the Chicago group to the same number, and the restriction of any promotional group to a single weekly TV fight series.

British Cars Run Off with Le Mans Race

LE MANS, France (UP)—Juan Manuel Fangio, the Babe Ruth of auto racing, was left "sitting on the bench" as Britain's Jaguars ran off with another victory in the 24-hour Le Mans race.

Great Britain's Ron Flockhart and Ivor Bueb won the "safest" Le Mans race in history Sunday as Jaguars swept the first four places over the favored Maseratis and Ferraris. World champion Fangio, held in reserve by the Maserati company, never got into the race because the big 400-horsepower Italian cars dropped out with the race only eight hours old.

Flockhart and Bueb took first place in a 3.8 liter fuel injection Jaguar in a record-breaking performance, clocking an average speed of 114.5 miles per hour while covering a total of 2,732.24 miles. Their performance wiped out the old record of 107.6 miles per hour.

Ninian Sanderson and John Lawrence of Britain were second. Jean Mary and Jean Lucas of France were third and Freddy Rouselle and Paul Frere of Belgium were fourth, all in Jaguars.

Bruce Kessler of Beverly Hills, Pittsburgh, Pa., were the only Americans to finish, winding up eighth in a German-built Porsche. They were clocked in 100.2 miles per hour.

Mantle's Heavy Hitting Paces Yanks to Top of League Again

Mickey Mantle couldn't put over the crusher on the Chicago White Sox all by himself, but his devastating .486 three-week batting splurge has the New York Yankees looking like world champions again.

Mantle staged a one-man riot for the season's largest crowd, 63,787, Sunday with six hits as the Yankees retained their half-game American League lead in their split with the White Sox. Mickey had four hits in the Yankees' 9-2 opening win and crashed a three-run homer in the ninth inning of the nightcap but the Sox hung on to win, 4-3.

The victory in the nightcap enabled the Sox to snap the Yanks' 10-game winning streak and salvage one game of the key four-game series.

Mantle, who could become the majors first .400 hitter since Ted Williams in 1941, had three singles and a double as the Yankees pounded out 16 hits to hand Billy Pierce his fifth defeat in the opener. Bobby Shantz limited the Sox to six hits to win his eighth straight game and raise his season's mark to 9-1.

Homer Victory Margin

Dick Donovan shut out the Yankees with three hits for eight innings in the second game but then Mantle lowered the boom with his three-run homer in the ninth and the Sox didn't clinch the verdict until Paul LaPalme struck out pinch-hitter Darrell Johnson with two runners in scoring position. Nelson Fox' seventh-inning homer was the margin of victory for the Sox.

The Cleveland Indians whipped the Washington Senators, 14-2 and 7-5, the Boston Red Sox walloped the Kansas City Athletics, 10-6 and 10-1, and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-4, in the other A.L. games.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the slumping Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-3, and led by one game when the Milwaukee Braves scored 7-6 and 7-3 victories over the Philadelphia Phillies. The Cincinnati Redlegs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3, and 5-2, and the New York Giants toppled the Chicago Cubs 7-2 and 5-1, in other N.L. activity.

The Indians rapped out 19 hits, including eight doubles and home runs by Vic Wertz and Gene Woodling, in their opener and then Al Smith hit two homers and Ray Narleski one in the nightcap. Early Wynn won his ninth game and Mike Garcia his third for the Tribe.

Frank Malzone drove in five runs and Ted Williams hit two homers as the Red Sox banged out 31 hits in their sweep of the Athletics.

Jim Busby's fifth-inning homer snapped a 4-4 tie and enabled Ray Moore to gain his third victory for the Orioles. Don Lee suffered the loss for the Tigers.

Wally Moon tripled home two runs and then stole home with the decisive run for the Cardinals. Larry Jackson scored his ninth win although he needed help from Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth while Don Drysdale dropped his fourth decision.

Bill Bruton knocked in three runs in the nightcap for the Braves after Hank Aaron singled home the winning run in the ninth inning of the opener to deal Robin Roberts his ninth defeat. Bob Buhl won his eighth game and Taylor Phillips his third for the Braves, who went back into second place.

George Crowe hit two homers and Don Hoak, Frank Robinson and Smokey Burgess one each in Cincinnati's sweep of the Pirates, which was marked by another "duster" breakout. The umpires finally threatened both managers after Pittsburgh's Ron Kline and Cincinnati's Tom Acker threw pitches that knocked down rival hitters.

Johnny Antonelli won his fifth game and Curt Barclay his third as the Giants swept their first doubleheader of the season. Bobby Thomson had two hits in each game to help hand prize Cub pitchers Dick Drott and Moe Drabowsky the losses.

Adcock Suffers Ankle Fracture

MILWAUKEE (UP) — The pennant-contending Milwaukee Braves will be without the bat of first-baseman Joe Adcock for the next 6 to 8 weeks because of a fractured ankle.

The big first baseman, beset by a bad knee for the past month, fractured a small bone in his right ankle and tore some ligaments when he slid into second base during the second inning of Sunday's second game with Philadelphia.

Adcock had walked and ran to second on Del Crandall's infield hit. He slid into the bag to avoid a tag by second-baseman Eddie Kazanski and couldn't get up.

Obviously in pain, Adcock was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to a hospital for an X-ray which disclosed the full extent of the injury.

Hamia Favored In Bout Tonight

PARIS (UP)—Frenchman Cherif Hamia of Algeria is favored at 7-5 to beat Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria tonight in their 15 round fight for the vacant world featherweight championship.

Although both are from Africa, top-contender Hamia is fighting for France; and Bassey for the British Empire, of which he is champion.

More than 15,000 are expected at the indoor Palais des Sports to witness this final contest for the 126-pound title, which was left vacant by the March retirement of American Sandy Saddler because of an eye injury.

It will be the first fight for that crown ever staged in Paris.

Hamia, 26, is favored over Bassey, 24, because of his top rating and his record of but one defeat and two draws in 33 fights.

Bassey is a good puncher, particularly with the left hook. His 47-10-1 record includes 17 knockouts.

Milk Producers in East Vote on Order

By UNITED PRESS

The 27 Pennsylvania counties who ship milk into the New York marketing area will cast their votes this Tuesday on whether or not they want to include about 35 New York counties and 12 New Jersey counties in the area limits.

Some changes have been made in the New York Milk Marketing order proposing the additions that are expected to reduce the shifting of dairy plants and producers both in and out of New York's market-wide pool.

Adjustments have been proposed in the pricing formula to avoid any great increase in price resulting from expansion of the marketing area. Other changes are expected to increase the order blend price by about 23 cents per 100 pounds.

Summer Pasture

July and August weather often turns bluegrass pastures into barren useless pasture. But a Pennsylvania State University agronomist says there is till time to do something abot a lack of summer pasture and offers the following suggestions.

He says Sudangrass can produce pasture 18 to 24 inches tall in just six or seven weeks. On productive oil one acre of Sudangrass can provide plenty of pasture for three cows and during good growing weather, it can provide pasture for four mature animals and keep them healthy.

Sudangrass can be planted any time after the soil is warm and it will produce pasture until frost sets in.

The agronomist recommends a variety known as "Piper" to be spread at 45 pounds to the acre.

One of the best methods, he says, is to spread the fertilizer in first, then cultipack until the seed bed is firm. Spread the Sudangrass and cultipack again. Then wait until the grass reaches a height of at least 18 inches before turning animals loose on the pasture.

Agents

Marketing services and advice is now available to farmers in the state under the recently expanded marketing service of the Pennsylvania State University.

To help farmers get their products to consumers at the lowest possible price, the university has asigned marketing agents to the four main areas of the state. Their services are available to farmers, marketing firms and consumers.

In recent years, about 60 per cent of the retail food dollar has been going to marketing firms and about 40 per cent to the farmer.

Services of university agents include information on grading, packaging and transportation. Part of their help with the big job of marketing will also include analysis of current markets, prospective marketing developments and marketing opportunities for all important products.

Morelock, Pittsburgh, senior vice commander; Fred E. Salsteven, Havertown, chaplain, and Gilbert C. Cramer, Vandergrift, judge advocate.

Immediate past commander Frank Taylor of Beaver Falls installed the new officers before resuming.

Army Develops New Mask for Atomic Fallout

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army has developed a new atomic age face mask to protect soldiers against inhaling radioactive fall-out particles.

The lightweight mask, now undergoing final tests, is designed to give complete protection against war gases, germ warfare agents and fall-out particles. But it will not protect the wearer against direct radiation.

The mask was developed by the Army Chemical Corps and the John T. Ryan Memorial Laboratory of the Mine Safety Appliances Co. of Pittsburgh. Instead of having the standard protruding canister used in current gas masks, the new device has pliable gas-aerosol filters molded into the rubber facepiece.

The Army said the mask provides easier breathing, better vision, improved speech transmission and greater comfort.

New Defense Against the TV Commercial

NEW YORK (UP) — A new, workable defense for TV viewers against boring TV commercials and tedious TV performers is to conduct a scientific experiment while waiting for the horrows to exhaust themselves.

You don't have to be a scientist to conduct this experiment. You just sit there in the dark room, directing a steady stare — not at the brightly lighted screen, but a foot to the left of the screen.

Then you jerk your eyeballs rapidly to the right, in a sort of twitching movement. This twitches your vision rapidly across the screen, and the twitch should be halted abruptly a foot to the screen's right.

Brush Off Imgae

Execute this maneuver correctly and you'll discover you've brushed an image off the screen and suspended it in thin air to the right of the set. It stays there only a few thousandths of a second, but it is there.

That's the beginner's experiment. As you get good at it, you can start your twitching are farther to the left of the screen and end it farther from the right. Then you can suspend as many as four images in a row.

This is a TV viewer's defense which now is being tried out by a growing number of scientists. They got the idea from an English colleague, T. G. Crookes, who both originated it and worked out the science of it.

The phenomenon is not new, of course. If you look at a lighted picture in a dark room or at a movie in a dark theater and jerk your eyes away, your retinas will retain, for a flash of time, blurred streaks of light.

Not As Wholes

It is blurred light because the lighted picture comes upon the retinas all at one time, and so do the individual "frames" in the film of the movie. But the "frames" of TV reproduction don't come onto the screen as wholes.

The "frames" form top to bottom with a speed which the eyes are incapable of detecting, of course. The speed of the twitching eye when co-ordinated with the speed of the forming "frame" brushes the intact "frame" off the screen and hangs it in the air.

Crookes found that the best distance from the TV for the experiment was six feet. At a closer distance, the string of suspended images, overlap. At six feet, they are separated with spaces between.

Blasts Cut in Parole Funds

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The legislature's $375,000 cut in the appropriation for the state Parole Board will necessitate prison inmates remaining in custody although they might otherwise qualify for outside rehabilitation under supervision, according to the Pennsylvania Assn. for Health and Welfare.

The group accused the legislature of adopting a policy toward prison inmates of "keep them in prison longer, turn them loose without adequate supervision, and do it all with less money."

War Hero Dies

LONDON—Adm. Sir Louis Henry Keppel Hamilton, 67, chief of naval staff of the Commonwealth Naval Board from 1948 and a hero of both world wars, died Saturday.

Army Colonel Found Dead of Gunshot Wounds

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — The Army said today the American colonel found dead of gunshot wounds Saturday was Col. William D. McKinley, commander of the 19th Regiment of the U. S. 24th Division.

The Army still has not disclosed officially whether the colonel died accidentally or was a suiide. His body was found in division headquarters.

A spokesman for his widow, Mrs. Anne MAlpin McKinley, at Vineyard Haven, Mass., said the Army had informed the family that his death was "accidental."

The family said it expected further word on the shooting from Army authorities in Washington.

McKinley, a distant relative of the late President William McKinley, was 41. He was graduated from West Point in 1937 and from the Army War College in 1953. Friends described him as a "solid citizen" and as "a top flight man all the way along."

McKinley had been awarded the Silver Star with oak leaf cluster, the Bronze Star with oak leaf cluster and the Purple Heart, also with oak leaf clusters.

The Army said Mrs. McKinley lives in Carlisle, Pa., and is now on vacation in Martha's Vineyard. The colonel's mother lives in Washington, D.C.

Steel Price Boost With Wage Increase

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Steel buyers next week will most likely be paying $5 to $6 more per ton than they are now, Steel Magazine predicted today.

The price boost is expected to accompany an automatic wage increase due the steelworkers under the three-year labor contract, effective July 1.

Steel said leaders in the industry expect the price jump to be reflected primarily in base prices, rather than extras, and that would probably vary from product to product.

The publication explained that the upturn in base prices "will be inadequate to cover a probable wage boost cost of 17.1 cents per man per hour." Breakdown of that figure was given as: 8.7 cents for employment; 1.7 on increments; 0.4 in holiday pay; 2.3 for Sunday premium; and 4.0 in cost of living.

Some policy makers, the publication said, are questioning whether they can pass along the full production cost, which will amount to $10.26 per ton.

Several restraints on the price increase were noted. The July 1 wage boost cost is slightly less than last year's, the demand for steel is lighter, and there is general pressure with the industry to help restrain inflation. First quarter steel earnings are also reported higher than in the same 1956 period, thus increasing consumers' demands for only slight price upturns.

By the end of the first half, the nation's steel mills will have produced 60,785,000 net tons of steel, the metalworking weekly predicted. At an annual rate, it would amount to 121.5 million tons—about 91 per cent of capacity.

It was predicted that if production averages 89 per cent of capacity in the last half, the year's outturn will be 120 million tons. The record total output is 117,036,085 tons, set in 1955.

The operating rate last week reportedly slipped a half point of rated capacity after three consecutive weeks' gain. The mills worked at 88 per cent, which equals 2,252,351 net tons for ingots and castings.

Steel consumption was reported remaining on a high level "because consumers are using up inventories," even though demand has slackened since the first of this year.

Iran to Try Bandit Gang of Murderers

TEHRAN (UP)—A special court martial, unique in Iran's legal history, will try next month the bandit gang accused of murdering three Americans and two Iranians in an ambush last March.

The principal defendant, bandit leader Dad Shah, is still at large and believed to have fled to Pakistan. But Iranian authorities are holding his brother, Ahmed Shad. Dad's favorite wife, Nazak, and several members of the gang.

The ambushed Americans were Kevin Carroll, a U.S. Point Four aid official, his pretty wife, Anita, born of Issaquan, Wash., and Brewster Wilson of Portland Ore., a Near East Foundation community development specialist.

Conducted By General

The court martial will be conducted by Gen. Hossein Azemoudah, army prosecutor-general who in 1954 participated in the trial of anti-British ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

American observers will be invited to the trial, to be held at the Tehran's army divisional headquarters.

Charges against the badits include murder, robbery and armed insurrection. Conviction of any one of the charges would mean execution by firing squad.

Dad Shah, unless caught meanwhile, will be tried in absentia.

Reports that Dad Shah returned to Iran, killed several villagers and burned a village last month, were dismissed as unfounded by security officials here.

Dad Shah's brother and wife and 20 gang members were handed over by Pakistan authorities this month, after lengthy extradition procedures.

A group of 40 persons, including 13 women and five children, is being held at Tehran's military police headquarters. Army sources said the children and most of the women will be sent to welfare organizations.

But Dad Shah's wife will be kept under strong guard until the end of the court martial. She is alleged to have aided her husband in the killings.

Prime Minister Manouchen Eghbal, has recommended no mercy for the defendants and asked that they be made an example.

German Autos Sent to U. S.

RUESSELHEIM, Germany (UP) General Motors Corp. is planning to import German-made automobiles into the United States, the Opel automobile firm said today.

Opel, the German affiliate of FM, said discussions were underway for setting up a nationwide servicing and retailing network in the United States for the two Opel models. The Opel passenger cars sell for about $1,500 and $2,380 in Germany.

Seeks Annulment From Man Age 80

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Mrs Lillian Walters Rutherford, 70 has sued for annulment of her one-month old marriage to Mac B. Rutherford, 80.

Her petition says they are "wholly unsuited for each other."

Living Costs Are Up

WASHINGTON (UP)—The cost of living is expected to set a new all-time record Tuesday for the ninth month in a row when the government's consumer price index for May is slated to come out.

Government officials predict it will show another rise from the record set in April, making the ninth successive month living costs have broken all previous records.

The expected new peak will bring with it pay raises of at least 3 to 4 cents an hour for 800,000 workers and possibly smaller boosts for 100,000 more. These are persons whose union wage contracts contain "escalator" clauses providing for riases or pay cuts as the government price index rises or falls.

The consumer price index rose in April to 119.3 per cent of the 1947-49 price average, which is used as a basis for comparison. That is an overall price rise of almost 20 per cent in the past 8-10 years.

Federal experts agree generally with predictions of U.S. Chamber of Commerce officials that prices will continue to rise through the rest of this year, though probably not as rapidly as during the last half of 1956.

The current upward push in living costs began around April, 1956. The biggest increases since then have been in autos and auto repairs, despite discounts on new cars; public transportation fares; household fuels with the Suez Canal oil crisis a factor; meats, poultry and fish; cereals and bakery products; dairy products; medical care costs; household operations costs, with laundry and dry cleaning and other service charges important; shoes, personal care, particularly haircuts; and reading and recreation.

Sidewalk Bosses Treated Royally

NEW YORK (UP) — Sidewalk superintendents here agree they never had it so good.

For their viewing convenience, a 65-foot long observation deck and clubhouse, complete with picture windows and a canopy, is being set up overlooking construction of the 70 million dollars Time and Life Building on the Avenue of the Americas.

World Leaders Urged To Halt Atomic Tests

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Government leaders of the United States, Great Britain and Russia were urged to halt nuclear tests by the American Friends Society in identical letters to President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Howard MacMillan and Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Henry C. Cadbury, chairman of the board of directors of the Society, said that nuclear testing can be dealt with apart from disarmament agreements.

Six Teen-agers Are Killed in Auto Accident

PAINTED POST, N.Y. (UP) — Six teen-agers were killed in an automobile accident during the weekend and a seventh was injured critically.

Three of those killed were to have graduated from Painted Post High School today.

The dead were Roland Leinhos, 17; salutatorian of the local graduating class; Jack Van Deventer, 17, and his sister, Dorothy, 13; Patricia Bonzo, 14; Mary Murray, 15, and Stanley Bartlett, 17.

The first four were killed instantly when the car in which the group of seven was enroute to Waneta Lake for a swim Saturday struck the rear of another car, shot up an embankment and was cut in two by a tree.

Miss Murray and the Bartlett youth died later at Schuyler Hospital in Montour Falls. The lone survivor, Richard Gumberts, 17, was reported recovering at the same hospital.

Van Deventer, Bartlett and Gumberts were to have graduated with Leinhos. The Murray girl was a high school sophomore while the two younger girls had just graduated from elementary school.

School officials went ahead with the baccalaureate program last night and the commencement today because parents agreed "the boys would want it that way."

"It doesn't seem real," their classmates said. "It's like a bad dream."

Virginia Governor in Attack on Federal School Aid Program

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UP) — Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia keynoted the 49th annual governors' conference today by attacking President Eisenhower's proposal for federal school aid as "totally unwarranted."

Stanley, chairman of the conference, spoke at the opening business session less than 12 hours before Eisenhower was scheduled to address the governors.

The four-day conference opened Sunday with a round of informal activities for the state executives who assembled in this historic capital of colonial Virginia. Highway and school problems were on the agenda for today's sessions.

The governors will hear Eisenhower deliver what's expected to be a major policy speech at the annual state dinner tonight.

One of the school proposals billed for discussion involved the possibility of operating schools on a 12-month basis to make greater use of existing school buildings, textbooks and teachers. Under such plans, pupils would take staggered vacations or attend public school for the entire year and complete their work in a shorter time.

Interested in Idea

In his speech prepared for the opening of today's session, Stanley said he was keenly interested in suggestions for expanding the use of existing school buildings.

Stanley said the states would encourage federal aid for school construction if they fail to deal with the classroom shortage.

"The Commonwealth of Virginia regards these proposals as totally unwarranted and another means of undermining the state and local governments," he said. "The federal government has no authority and no responsibility in the field of public education."

In a speech prepared for today's highway discussion, Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland gave last year's conference much credit for "the new verbal deemphasis on speed and the promised new emphasis on safety in high places of the law enforcement and automotive worlds."

With no national election campaigns this year, politics was getting less attention at the conference than in some years. But the governors who faced news conferences Sunday were subjected to a barrage of political questions.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California said he was not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960 and that it was too early to say whether he would seek re-election.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan refused to say if he would seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960. He said he expected to "run for something" in 1958 but would not say whether he wanted re-election or a Senate seat.

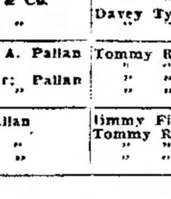
'Bride and Groom' Returns Next Monday

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (AP)—"Bride and Groom," a show which operates under the assumption that it's safe to play with matches, waltzes down your NBC-TV aisle next Monday.



William Ewald

A veteran of five campaigns on radio and four on TV, "Bride and Groom" will return July 1 on a Monday through Friday ticket to dispense free loot to willing newlyweds and a good cry to mama at home.

If its advance mail is any indication, the show's trendex should be as high as guests at a wedding reception. Right now, letters are pouring into John Reddy, producer of the program, at the rate of a couple of thousand a week.

Free Gifts Galore

The writers' objective—to offer themselves as candidates for TV's aisle of bliss in exchange for honeymoon trips, refrigerators, silver, cameras, stoves and TV sets. In short, just about everything but a free Wasserman test.

"We're looking for interesting people with appealing stories" said Reddy today. "We want to have a happy show rather than a hard luck one.

"The whole object of the show is to give girls the kind of big wedding that only a Grace Kelly or a Queen Elizabeth gets in real life."

Chosen thus far to tie the knot on TV are a passenger from the Mayflower II and his girl who is flying here from England; a couple of Hungarian refugees who'll be wed July 4; and Senator (Edward) Ford and Louise Grace. You may remember Ford as a panel member of radio's "Can You Top This."

Applications for the show have come in from points as scattered as Erie, Pa., San Mateo, Calif.; Amite, La., and Marshall Tex. Among them are a girl in Minnesota who wants to marry her chemistry teacher; two Arthur Murray dance instructors in Champaign Ill; and twin sisters in Water Park, Wash., who wish to marry a pair of brothers.

Perhaps the most curious plea to arrive in Reddy's office this month came from a female in Louisville, Ky. She described herself as 36-years-old and 215 pounds heavy. Her plaint:

"Find me a man!"

Comedy Series On Television Nearly Banished

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Comedy series nearly are banished from TV for next season because, Janis Paige wails, "The networks and sponsors are afraid of them."

Janis was one of the victims of the sudden mass exodus of domestic and situation comedy series. The networks apparently figured the day was over for lightweight stories of young girls having adventures, or husbands and wives nagging each other.

Next season the trend is for westerns and mystery series. But although last season's Paige series, "It's Always Jan," was one of Lawrence Welk's victims in the rating race, Janis hopes to be back next winter with another try at the home screens.

"I'm talking to producer Jess Oppenheimer about one," she said. "I thought there was too much singing in the last series, so the next one, I hope will be all acting. We're talking over what kind of a girl I'd play.

"I'd like doing series. I had good ratings in the last one, but Welk was too much for us. We're not sure what went wrong with my show, but in TV nobody can sail through unscathed."

Miss Paige's plans for another series are part of the new chapter in her life. She's just divorced from the producer of her ill-fated series, Artie Stander, making the venture a sad story all the way around.

Her new way includes her first TV try at dramatic acting. Thursday she'll debut on NBC's "Lux Video Theater," playing a schoolteacher who turns out to be a vicious murderer—quite a switch for the bouncy singer who captured Broadway in "Pajama Game" and the movies in "Silk Stockings."

Your Health—

Most Important Drink Is Just Plain Water

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

You can't live very long without water. It plays a vital role in our everyday life. Yet except during extremely hot weather, you probably seldom think about it or about how much you need to keep healthy.

The simple truth is that very few of us drink enough water. Fortunately, nature comes to the rescue by placing a sizable supply of it in many of the foods we eat.

While we doctors know water is important to our health and physical development, we do not know precisely what role it plays in many ways. However, we believe that our development, nutrition, growth of cells and our health in general depend upon certain chemical reactions.

If these reactions are to be carried out properly, the body must have an adequate water supply. If it does not, these actions are incomplete and our health suffers.

Although nature provided our bodies with a method of storing fat, she neglected to establish similar facilities for storing water. She did, however, supply us with a sort of an automatic danger signal which warns us when our bodies need water. The signal, of course, is thirst.

Generally, the amount of water you drink in a single day can be regulated pretty safely on the basis of thirst. If you are excessively thirsty or otherwise in ill health, it is a different matter.

For the average person in good health most doctors recommend from six to eight glasses of water and other liquids a day.

On warm days especially, you probably should drink about eight glasses each day.

A sort of forced-feeding method might be advisable. Whether you are thirsty or not, drink a glass of water at regular intervals during the hot summer days.

You must remember that we have millions of perspiration glands, miles of ducts, lungs and kidneys. Through these we lose about three quarts of water each day.

Bing Calls Music on Radio, TV 'Trash'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Crooner Bing Crosby struck a harsh note Sunday night in commenting on popular music played on radio and television. He labelled it just "so much trash."

Crosby told the Senate that broadcast music is not having a good effect on the morals, ideals and tastes of the American public.

He laid the blame squarely on the doorstep of Broadcast Music, Inc. (BMI), a song-publishing organization owned by the radio-TV industry.

The singer asserted that the networks and broadcasting stations are depriving the public of "first rate" music by favoring BMI tunes on the airways over songs written by composers of the rival American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP).

Crosby, who has warbled every type of song from ragtime to rock 'n' roll, levelled the charges in a letter to Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee.

In New York, Robert J. Burton, vice president of BMI, said the Crosby letter was "part of a continuing effort to prejudge a jury trial" in a law suit brought by ASCAP members against BMI.

Crosby told Magnuson that he himself had not been "pressured into singing anything." But he said "subtly and by inference my cooperation has certainly been solicited."

"It just galls me exceedingly to see so much trash on our airlanes and TV screens while the work of the talented, dedicated songwriters is crowded out of the picture," Der Bingle said.

KISHI AT PRESS CLUB — Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi is shown as he addressed the National Press Club in Washington. He called for a revision in the U. S.-Japan Security Treaty. Later, in a joint communique, President Eisenhower and the Prime Minister announced that they have agreed to a "prompt withdrawal of all United States ground combat forces" from Japan.

Billy Graham Compares Hell to Electric Chair

NEW YORK (UP) — Evangelist Billy Graham said Sunday night that Hell is necessary to keep man from sin as the electric chair is necessary as a deterrent to murder.

Graham discussed his concept of hell before some 18,000 persons in Madison Square Garden.

The North Carolina preacher said he did not know what hell was like 'but I know the word fire is used figuratively in the Bible.'

"I took my degree in college anthropology," he said. "We never did find a tribe in the world that did not believe in God and redemption. Hell is needed to restrain man from sin—take away the fear of jails and electric chairs and New York would become a hell overnight. Let the gangsters into heaven and they'd make a pig pen out of it."

Graham said God does not send you to hell. He offers a way of salvation but that each individual selected his own road. He warned that those attending his crusade had a chance for redemption if they did not wait too long.

"One minute after death and it'll be too late," Graham said. "For many the death bed will be too late."

"Many ministers have distorted the concept of hell," he said. "Others have taken the Bible apart and fixed it to agree with their own notions."

Although private colleges and universities in the United States outnumber public institutions by nearly three to one, the public institutions have slightly more students than do the private institutions.
